The Brookfield Planning Board is in the process of writing the first draft of a proposed zoning bylaw to regulate permitted locations for any state-certified proposed medical marijuana dispensary seeking to locate within the Town of Brookfield.

A discussion on this proposed first draft will take place at 7 pm during the Planning Board's regular monthly meeting on April 2. Residents, local law enforcement officials and members of other town boards and committees are invited to attend this meeting, take part in the discussion, ask questions, and give feedback on this proposed bylaw.

A second, formal Public Hearing on the final draft of this document will be held prior to the Annual Town Meeting in late April or early May. Watch your local newspapers, the town website and Facebook pages, and the Channel 12 town bulletin board for further information.
